

Reflecting

Look back at the goals you set when we first started talking about improving your levels of physical activity. Is there a difference in what you can do now, compared to what you could do then? Is there a difference in how you feel too?

Write down any changes here:
